NOAH'S WOODWORKING TECHNOLOGY

The construction of the Ark is clear evidence of Noah's proficiency in woodworking. This is not surprising, considering that some of his descendants built engineering marvels like the Egyptian pyramids. One of his distant descendants, also known as a carpenter (Mark 6:3), would give His life on a cross of wood so that we could be forgiven of our sins.

The daily labors of animal care on the Ark probably required the presence of a workshop. Tools, wagons, and cages may have undergone occasional maintenance and repairs. In addition, Noah and his family may have done woodworking for personal crafts and to prepare for life after the Flood.
